BUCKNELL WINS FROM CRUMMEN IN HARD BATTLE

Bison Eleven Forced to Extend Itself to Defeat Hatchettes 13-0

COLEMAN AND STEHMAN BEAR BRUNT OF ATTACK

Running Game Nets Long Gains During Tilt; Sound Taps For Christy Mathewson

A forward pass and an off-tackle smash proved the undoing of the fighting Hatchettes at Lewisburg, Pa., last Saturday, when Bucknell reaped a 13 to 0 victory over the Crummen.

The Axemen, apparently a different team from that which took the field against C. C. N. Y. two weeks ago, carried the fight during the first part of the battle, driving through the powerful Bison line for long gains. At crucial moments, however, the Baptists braced and held off the Buff and Blue attacks.

George Washington put up a scrappy, fighting game during the entire fray, holding off the crushing onslaughts of the Orange and Blue backs time after time, except in the third period, when Diehl catapulted through the line for Bucknell's second marker, Hatchetmen Thirteen.

The Bisons' first touchdown came in the second quarter. McCormick took Stehman's punt in midfield and Hallick went off tackle for four yards. On an attempted reverse play, Blaisdell was thrown for a 10-yard loss. McCormick then heaved the ball to Trimmer, who ran 15 yards for the initial tally. McCormick droppedkicked the extra point.

Bucknell's second six-pointer was scored in the third period after Diehl had advanced the ball from the 40-yard line by short line jabs. A two-yard dive off tackle carried the oval across. Perry blocked Trimmer's try for goal.

In the final period the Crummen flashed their best attack. A brace of passes and several long gains through the line brought the pigskin to the Baptists' 10-yard marker, but under the shadow of their goal posts, the Moran crew were successful in holding the Hatchettes for downs.

Coleman and Stehman did the lion's share of the offensive work. The running of this pair was one of the high spots in the fracas. Stehman's punting was consistently good. The whole Hatchet line functioned as a machine. So uniform was the work of the for-

PLAYERS REORGANIZE AT OPENING MEETING

Will Become Closed Company Presenting Minimum of Three Plays Each Month

At their meeting last Wednesday, the Players voted unanimously to become a closed stock company. Under this reorganization, according to the plans presented to the company by its president, Maxine de Silva, the Players will be able to carry a heavier program, and to present a minimum of three one-act plays a month.

In order to get the affairs of the company under way at once, the vacant positions were filled by appointment. Morris Larson, Betty Kilbourne, and Abbie Burke were made student directors. Francis Hoffmann was appointed stage manager. Bob Ward was put in charge of publicity.

Try-outs for parts in the coming productions of the Players were held by Pern Henninger, the managing director of the company. The Players promise a program for the year covering a wide range of interesting plays. They expect to offer entertainment comparable to that given by the professional stock companies playing in Washington.

Brown scholarship had not yet been presented. Applications are to be made to Dean Ruediger. A report on the progress made toward the $10,000 pledged to the new building unit followed.

Makes Plea For Vote For Citizens of District of Columbia

DISTRICT DAY IS OCCASION

Thousands From Washington Attend Exercises For District at Sesquicentennial Exposition

Dr. William Mather Lewis, President of George Washington University, speaking before thousands of Washingtonians in the principal address of the District of Columbia Day at the Sesquicentennial Exposition, October 6, made a plea that the citizens of Washington be granted national representation.

After pointing out what Washington has done for the nation by sending 8,314 of her youth to France, contributing largely to successful buildings in the Capital, and paying enormous sums in Federal taxes, Dr. Lewis said:

"And we would have no objection to this if with the responsibilities of taxation we received the privileges of citizenship. For while our nation was founded with the slogan, 'No taxation without representation', upon the foundation that 'governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed'; and while around the Liberty Bell we find the Biblical words, 'Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof'; still, representation, the consent of the governed, real liberty has been denied the people of the District.

Sketches History

"There are those of us, and I believe the large majority of the residents of the District, who crave national representation. We love our nation and serve her to the best of our ability.

"On behalf of the permanent residents of Washington who since the day of its founding have given much to the nation, I ask that we be not denied the privileges which the humblest son of the Republic has a right to enjoy."

This plea concluded an address in which Dr. Lewis sketched the historical events leading up to the foundation of Washington as the National Capital; the transferring of the Capital from Philadelphia to Washington; the development of its beauty under the plans of the engineer, L'Enfant; the growth of the number of Federal employees; and the progress of education, until now one out of every thirty-four inhabitants of our city attend colleges or universities.

VERNON BREWSTER AT UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL

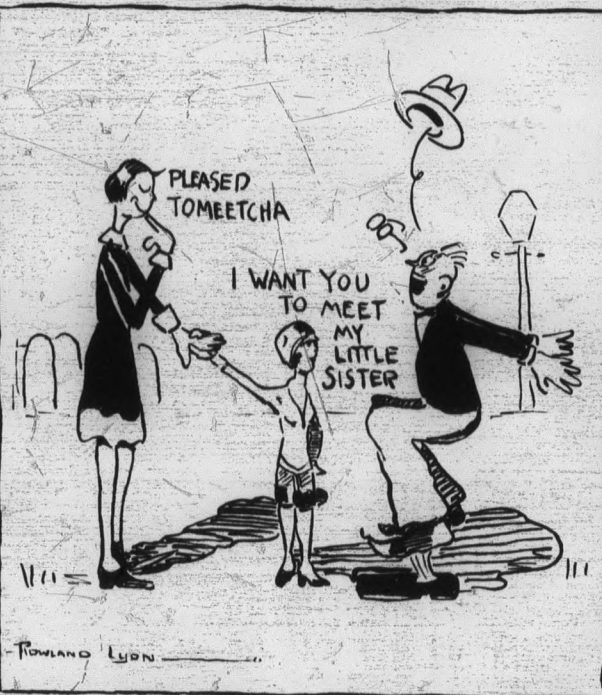

As an indirect result of an operation several months ago Vernon Brewster, Executive Secretary of the George Washington Alumni Association, has been forced to leave school temporarily and is convalescing in the University Hospital, where it is expected he will remain two weeks.

Mr. Brewster is president of the local Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity and is prominent in the activities of the Law School where he has entered his second year. Following his operation in the spring of this year he was away from school for three months, at the end of which time it was thought he had completely recovered his health, and he resumed his studies at the University. It is stated that Mr. Brewster hopes to return to school within the next few weeks.

WHAT PRICE SORORITY?

COIF ORDER TO BE INSTALLED SOON

Presentation Ceremony to Take Place in Early Part of November

LAW COMMITTEE NAMED Professor Cook of Yale, National President of Order, to be Chief Speaker

The George Washington chapter of the Order of the Coif, one of the leading national legal fraternities, will soon be installed. Although the date has not yet been decided, it is expected to take place early in November.

Prof. Walter W. Cook of Yale University, national president of the organization, has been invited to be the installing officer and to present the charter. A committee consisting of Prof. Charles S. Collier chairman, Prof. Hector Spaulding, and Miss Helen Newman has been appointed to make plans for the ceremonies incident to the installation of the chapter.

According to the national constitution, the members of the faculty will constitute the charter members and will have the power and authority to complete the organization of the chapter.

It is possible that the Benchers, local honorary legal fraternity, will go out of existence upon the installation of the G. W. chapter of the Coif. The Benchers is composed of students who have graduated with distinction from the Law School. These students will be eligible for membership in the Coif.

The installation in the Law School of a chapter of such an organization is proof of the continual advancement of the University.

SOPHOMORE-FRESHMAN SUPREMACY TO BE ESTABLISHED BY "TUG O' WAR"

Stream of Water from Nozzle of Fire Hose to Greet Those Who Do Not Possess Power to Stay on Their Side of Dividing Line

With the question of Sophomore-Freshman supremacy so bitterly contested at the present time, it has been decided to subject the rival classes to a "trial by combat." An ancient custom is to be used in the revival of the old tug o' war, which is to be recalled from the discard in which it has remained for the past two years.

A committee, operating under the counsel of Professor Doyle, is at work arranging the details of the conflict. The event will take place on the afternoon of Thursday, October 21, promptly at 4 o'clock. Announcement will be made as to the scene of battle as soon as it is chosen.

Interfraternity Council Plans Dance to Follow C. U. Football Game

QUARTON TO REPRESENT LOCAL BODY AT NATIONAL INTERFRAT UNION IN NEW YORK

Immediately after the Catholic University game Thanksgiving Day a dance will be held in Corcoran Hall, it was announced following the first meeting for the year of the Interfraternity Council at the Sigma Chi house last Sunday morning. A small admission will be charged, and dancing will probably be from five until eight. The dance will furnish an outlet for joy or sorrow after the game, and a very large attendance is expected, members of the council said.

Drawings for places in the interfraternity basketball games were made, and Acacia and Sigma Nu in the first league, and Phi Sigma Kappa and Delta Tau Delta in the second, will be the first to meet. Other pairings follow: First league, Kappa Alpha and Kappa Sigma, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Sigma Chi; second league, Theta Upsilon Omega and Theta Delta Chi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, in the second league, drew a bye.

Would Enforce Rules

William Quarton, president of the council, presided. Representatives of the various fraternities and Professor Henry Gratton Doyle, faculty advisor to men's organizations, were present.

The Blue Key came in for mention, and its action in distributing the freshman caps and enforcing its rules was endorsed. The council urged that all fraternities enforce the freshman rules among the freshmen, both day and night students, in their pledge groups.

It was voted that the president of the council be sent to the National Interfraternity Union in New York on November 25 as George Washington's delegate. Sterry R. Waterman and "Babe" Fly have represented the council in previous years. Plans for a fraternity row near the university were discussed, and sentiment was found to be favorable.

Professor Doyle suggested a series of University dances according to the plan of other universities, the dances to be held in the University gymnasium or Corcoran Hall once or twice.

ALCHEMISTS GET ALPHA CHI SIGMA

Local Chemical Society Made Fortieth Unit of International Body

DEPARTMENT RANKS HIGH Places Chemistry Division in Class "A" With Large Schools of the Country

The Alchemists, chemical fraternity which was founded at George Washington University in 1912, has become the fortieth chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma, according to news just received by the local body. Alpha Chi Sigma is the largest international chemical fraternity and its requirements for eligibility of chapters are very rigid.

Last year, after several inspections of the University and Chemistry Department by the national officers of this organization, a formal petition was submitted. This summer news was received that the petition had been granted and that the installation would take place sometime in November.

The granting of this chapter signifies that the Department of Chemistry has gained high standing in the opinion of the chapters of the national fraternity. The Alpha Chi Sigma fraternity has chapters in practically all the large universities where a Class A chemical department is maintained. Most of the eminent chemists of this country are members, and the fraternity is very active in the affairs of the American Chemical Society.

Locals Members are Active

The local group, consisting of twenty-eight active members, fifty-nine alumni members, and eight faculty members, has been very active in the Department of Chemistry and in the University. Its aim has been to aid chemistry as a science and profession, and to foster individual research in the University.

High scholastic standing has been and will continue to be an essential requirement for eligibility; activity in student affairs, such as the Chemical Society, and ability to get along in the laboratories, are also taken into consideration.

ENGLISH PLAYWRIGHT TO DELIVER ADDRESS

Young Author to Speak on "Making The Play" Before Dramatic Association

John Van Druten, talented young English playwright, will address an assembly held under the auspices of the George Washington University Dramatic Association in the Corcoran Hall auditorium the evening of October 21. Mr. Van Druten arrived in this country two weeks ago and it was in answer to a personal request by President Lewis that he agreed to speak here.

The young writer, who is but twenty-three years of age, is the author of the play entitled "Young Woodley," which is now playing in this country, starring Glenn Hunter. This play was originally produced in London, but it received severe criticism because it is reported to have ridiculed the English school system.

The subject of the talk is "Making The Play," and was selected for the speaker by the local body. Invitations have been issued to the dramatic clubs of the city and a capacity audience is expected. President Lewis, in speaking of Mr. Van Druten, said that his particular appeal lay in his looks and his manner of speaking.

ROLL CALL HELD MONDAY EVENING ON BACK CAMPUS

All University is United by Fourth Event of its Kind

PROCTOR L. DOUGHERTY MAKES PRINCIPAL TALK

Triumphant Snake Dance Winds Way Down Pennsylvania Avenue After Campus Gathering

From the first note of the Army School Band which hailed the coming of George and Martha Washington, to the last fearful little freshman who joined the hilarious force of snake dancers who pushed their way down Pennsylvania Avenue, the Fourth Annual Roll Call held on the campus late Monday afternoon represented the most inspiring semblance of school spirit and college enthusiasm ever displayed in the history of the University.

The best of greetings from our Patron Saints was followed by a few words from G. Rollo Carter, chairman of the Roll Call Committee, who in turn introduced President Lewis and later Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty, newly appointed Commissioner of the District of Columbia. Voices of every description joined in the cheering which was very prevalent through the whole meeting.

President Lewis Speaks

President Lewis, when greeted by hundreds of students calling "Yea Prexy," rose to his feet with his usual broad smile and began a reminiscence of the George Washington University of yesterday. "Since the first Roll Call held here four years ago," he said, "we have added to George Washington, Corcoran Hall, Stockton Hall, the new Gymnasium; have remodeled the Medical School, purchased the Woman's Building, and are constantly moving forward toward a Greater George Washington University."

He especially emphasized the successful state of G. W. activities today. "They are what they are," he continued, "because they have been firmly established in a business way. We now have money in the treasury to run our activities because the students of the University are helping."

"We have a football schedule which compares favorably with any team of its kind in the country. I wish to pay a tribute to the team who recently defeated the College of the City of New York and the one who played Bucknell last Saturday. A team who didn't know they were beaten until they were beaten. We need more of the same

CHERRY TREE BOARD MEMBERS ANNOUNCED

Two of Last Year's Board Receive Reappointment; More Members To Be Named Later

Six members of the Board of Editors of the 1926-27 Cherry Tree have been appointed according to an announcement made by Prof. H. G. Doyle, chairman of the Publications Council. Other members will be added to the board later, according to the announcement. The new editors are Jeanne Gravatte, Henry H. James, Robert Sterns, Rowland Lyon, Eryntrude Valden, and Margaret Malze.

But two of the new appointments served on the Board of Editors last year. They are Jeanne Gravatte, who served as managing editor, and Henry H. James.

Board to Elect

Of the new members, Robert Sterns was assistant organizations editor, Rowland Lyon was art editor, Eryntrude Valden was assistant girls' sports editor, and Margaret Malze was a member of the business staff last year.

Both the editor-in-chief and business manager of last year were graduated last June. A meeting of the new board will be called in the near future to elect a new editor-in-chief and a new business manager and to make plans for the organization of the staff.

WEDNESDAY CHAPEL HAS BARTSCH FOR SPEAKER

Organization of the Bird World is Subject of Talk

Professor Paul Bartsch, professor of botany in the University, was the speaker at the Chapel exercises held last Wednesday. His address was illustrated by lantern slides and had as topic the organization of the bird world. Dean Wilbur conducted the exercises in the absence of President Lewis.

During the course of his talk Dr. Bartsch compared the intricate economic organization of the animal world to that of our own. The economic organization provided by nature, according to Dr. Bartsch, existed for countless years before our own, and is so well worked out that "it is a fundamental law that no two animals of closely related species occupy the same geographic horizon."

THE BLUE FLAME

It is said there was on a hillside in the midst of a forest a great pile of wood, dry twigs, pine branches, seared leaves, all heaped together. One day a rock rolled down the hill and crashed against another stone just beside the mass of wood. A tiny spark flew from the flint rocks and fell among the pine branches. A blue flame, scarcely perceptible, flickered up and curled itself around the branches. The wind blew down the hillside and fanned the little flame until it spread from twig to bough, to tree, even as far as the edge of the forest.

It is said that there is on a street in the middle of a city, a great mass of students working and studying together—yet not joined together for the school was said to lack college spirit. One day a secret organization rolled up its sleeves, crashed against a certain green-hatted conglomeration that was marching down the "wrong side" of the street. Sparks and freshmen caps flew, but whoever won, a tiny blue flame of "college pep" began to spread through the struggling mass and the onlookers. The faculty gazed down from its office windows with bated breath so the feeble flame would not flicker out. The fire crept from one student to another and each man turned to his neighbor with a new light in his eyes.

CONCERNING CHEERING

Cheerleading apparently has become a lost art at George Washington, if we may judge by that demonstrated at the C. C. N. Y. game two weeks ago. Gathered in the stands were enough throats to make their cheers heard even in the remote corners of the lopsided ten-mile square with we call the District of Columbia. The only factor lacking was cooperative cheerleading backed by cooperative cheering on the part of the students. George Washington rooters warranted no less than four cheerleaders to handle the situation. Is it reasonable to expect a lone cheerleader, regardless of his ability, to extract snappy yells and songs from the stands when about ninety per cent of the crowd cannot hear what he is saying? It is agreed that the student body has not done its full share in the cheering, but cheering is a sort of partnership between the stands and the cheerleaders. We cannot have the kind of cheering we should have unless each partner "does his stuff." We have two suggestions to offer, both of which should be easily carried out. The first is to get two or three more cheerleaders, peppy fellows, who can transform their personal verve and vim into snappy yelling. The second suggestion depends largely upon the Blue Key and the Sophomore Class as a whole. It is this: Require all Freshmen to attend all home games. Make them sit en masse in a specified part of the stands, and, above all, MAKE THEM YELL.

THE BALLOT BOX

Freshmen elections will be held in the near future and it is sincerely hoped that the plan so successfully inaugurated last year will again be followed. This consisted of sealed ballot boxes, guarded by upper classmen, posted in Corcoran Hall all the day of election. All votes were checked off and given a single uniform ballot on which to denote their choice for class officers. Previous to this a meeting of the Freshman class had been held and nominations made for the various offices. This meeting was held under the auspices of the upper classmen last year and could very easily be handled by the President's Student Advisory Council now.

The ballot system makes it absolutely certain that every student eligible is given the right to vote and that no one is allowed to cast a ballot who has not the right to do so. Under its operation the ballots are checked with the signatures of the students on file at the Registrar's office and their standing as Freshmen is also checked. Any student with less than thirty semester hours credit would be allowed to vote under this system. While this system does not eliminate politics and pull from entering the election, it is not altogether certain if any method could eliminate them. The main thing is to have the elections honestly and squarely run and this can only be done in the case of such a large body as the present Freshman class in the proposed method.

THE NEW REGISTRATION METHOD

New systems are usually hailed with a bit of skepticism. Even so with the new method of registration which was instituted this year in the Department of Arts and Sciences. But like most new things which are fundamentally right, the new registration system went over big, went over effectively, and from a student's view, with less hitch than ever before.

The institution of a system whereby the students do the biggest part of the actual work of filling in cards themselves may have resulted in writer's cramp for a few minutes, but on the whole it is said to have speeded up the work in the offices of the University to an extent never before known. No longer do we have the days of waiting until the professors get official word that we are numbered in their folds. Our names were there on the first day to meet us and to show us that the University is at present upon a finely organized working basis.

With the handling of approximately 5000 students the registration has in previous years been slow and drawn out. Under the old system the professors were continually receiving new students and often had to wait several weeks before they could draw up a permanent roll. The use of the gymnasium the last few years has greatly facilitated the work. Only those who put off registering until the last two or three days were forced to lose much time in the process of becoming a member of the University. Those in charge of registration are to be complimented.

Savage blood still reigns supreme in our human breasts. Witness last Thursday the battle waged between the almighty Sophomores and the courageous Frosh. "To the victor belong the spoils"—so in the future our Frosh will wear their green and red caps like good lil' boys.

Thoughts while hanging around the campus:

October's bright blue weather. The campus showing traces of Monday's Roll Call—and a right good Roll Call, too. Freshmen girls with the conscious air of prospective rush-ees; and fresh-men wearing a chastened look, thanks to the Blue Key. Ye Hatchette Office divested of its murals and smelling oddly of paint and cleanliness. Wonder if the scribes will find inspiration among such un-bohemian surroundings? Parking space on Gee Street grows scarcer each year.

More Thoughts: What's become of the S. P. E. buzz wagon? And all the collegiate Fords? They lent an atmosphere. Why doesn't someone remove the defunct signs from the bulletin boards? Practically everyone by this time has gotten "hep" to the fact that classes in the Department of Arts and Sciences started Monday, September 27, and all good freshmen worthy of the name did report to C. H. 1 for the opening exercise. Liable to go to the library any minute now and translate that French. Eleven-fifty bell. Oh well, do it tomorrow.

And now a few banquets just to show that the "Chip" isn't on our shoulder. Anent the Cherry Tree, the following comments from various high school principals: "It is certainly a beautiful book and we shall take pleasure in placing it in our library." "It is one of the most satisfactory year books I have examined." "It gives me pleasure to place this attractive annual in our library where the students will have opportunity to read and enjoy it." "Ray for Art Perry and his gang!"

Greetings, "Mother" Hopkins of the dormitory girls. That is the manner in which Miss Hopkins, director of women's athletics and the new house mother at the girls dormitory, is now being greeted. Some say that she prefers being called just plain "Ma."

The Delta Zetas received a five-pound box of candy last week addressed to one of its members, which under ordinary circumstances means an engagement. Further sleuthing, however, produced the fact that the sender was unknown, even to the supposed bride-to-be. Meanwhile the other sisters are enjoying the candy.

Professor Foster came into Corcoran Hall the other day and started to eject the gentleman who stood with his back turned to him, puffing away on a cigar. But the gentleman suddenly turned around and our French professor turned on his heels. No wonder for the face behind the cigar belonged to Elmer Louis Kayser, Secretary of the University.

The freshmen had a hard time concentrating on the psychology test last week with the Blue Key waiting outside to give them the rush when they came out. If the scores are phenomenally low, Prof. Moss can use this as an excuse.

It is rumored that the freshmen have organized what is known as the Freshman Protection Society to care for the health of their classmates. Recalling the days of the old "Shifter" movement the Frosh have adopted as an insignia a safety pin worn in the coat lapel.

Most of the Frosh-Soph mills last week were in public, but the one in the mechanical drawing room was quite an exclusive affair. It seems that the freshies had repelled the rush of the Blue Key to gain an entrance by ordinary means, only to discover their enemy advancing by way of the fire escape. Two all-metal waste baskets full of water and liquid soap emptied on the heads of the oncoming upper-classmen did little to dampen their ardor, and when Prof. Johnson arrived the place was but a jumble of struggling humanity.

FATHER CARTWRIGHT IS NEWMAN CLUB SPEAKER

Father Cartwright, of St. Patrick's Church, spoke to a large gathering at the first meeting of the Newman Club, held in Corcoran Hall, Tuesday, October 5.

A resolution of sympathy was taken for the death, October 1, of Miss Mary Regan, one of the members. Joseph L. O'Connor, president of the club, then outlined the program for the coming year, which is to consist of two meetings a month, one of social interest, the other having present some prominent speaker.

V. B. Lowrey has returned to his faculty post after an absence of one year, to instruct one class in Political Science. During the past year Mr. Lowrey has been secretary to his father, Representative L. B. Lowrey, of Mississippi.

As a manager of five political campaigns and active political participations both in Texas and Mississippi, Mr. Lowrey's pupils declare him well qualified to introduce them into the practical science of politics.

Frosh Grid Men Will Try Out Wednesday

"Husky Lot," Says Crum, Who Expects Good Showing at First Meet of Season

About forty candidates for the George Washington freshman football team are expected to appear at the Tidal Basin gridiron for their first try-out of the season on Wednesday afternoon, October 13.

According to "Maud" Crum, varsity football coach, who had an opportunity to size up prospective material when the first call for men was issued last week, the candidates appear very promising.

"The men look like a husky lot," Coach Crum said. "They ought to show up well on the field." The freshman football schedule is as yet incomplete. Local games have already been arranged, however, and several out-of-town games are planned.

Men who show ability are to be given a chance at the varsity, according to present plans. With separate freshman and varsity squads Coach Crum can give more individual attention to the men, it is believed.

WOMEN'S SWIMMING WILL START IN MARCH

"We hope to use the new 'Y' pool for swimming in the spring," were the words of Miss Hopkins, girls' swimming coach, in commenting on the future swimming season. Although girls' swimming will not start until March 1, all those interested in the sport are looking forward to a most successful season.

If the team becomes as expert as is expected, Miss Hopkins states that there will be meets held through the telegraphic system. Practice will be held six days a week, on four afternoons and two evenings.

MEN'S RIFLE TO BEGIN THIS WEEK

Range in Basement of Corcoran Hall to Open Friday Night

FIRST MATCH NOVEMBER 20

Most of Last Year's Squad Returns; Prospects Bright for Another Great Season

An excellent program has been mapped out for the Men's Rifle Team for the coming season. Practice begins October 15 and 16, from 7 to 11 o'clock in the evening at the range in the basement of Corcoran Hall, and thereafter on each Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights. The date of the first match has been set for November 20. Several challenges have been received and will be passed on later.

Coach Walter Stokes is anxious to look over all new material in the University and cordially invites every man to come out who thinks he has the least bit of shooting ability. "During the first month or six weeks," he says, "it will be the policy of myself and all old shooters to assist and give definite aid to beginners in order to make the best of new material."

Two Men Lost

The team lost two of its best shots in Thaddeus A. Riley, last year's captain, and Baxter Smith, manager, from the five that won the Eastern Intercollegiate Championship in New York last spring. The new Captain Riley (Thad's twin), Manager Plugge and Robert Leighy are back and will form the nucleus of the team. Several men from last year's squad, including G. B. Campbell, J. A. Schricker, F. N. Strawbridge, J. W. Crockett, R. G. Radue, R. Lane and F. Parsons, are back and make the prospects exceedingly bright.

It is a notable fact that Company "E," of the National Guard, composed entirely of present and former George Washington men, won the National Company Team Championship in rifle work at the Seagirt, New Jersey, National Rifle Match this summer. The team was under the command of Capt. Shields, Lt. T. Riley, Sgt. H. E. Riley, and Sgt. George Votava.

Hockey Draws Many Aspirants For Team

Contests Will Be Scheduled With William and Mary and Sweetbriar Later

Practices for the large squad which reported on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, and chalk talks on Tuesday form the program for women's hockey this year. About 55 girls have come out so far, and plans are being made for the organization of inter-class teams, as well as the varsity squad.

No matches have been definitely scheduled for the team, as word has not yet been received from William and Mary or Sweetbriar, but it is expected that arrangement will soon be made.

The squad is practicing steadily, and is beginning to round into form. Miss Virginia Hopkins, coach of the team, would not comment on the quality of the material which has reported, but said that with hard training the members of the varsity and class teams could be selected soon.

SCRAPS MARK FROSH CAMPAIGN OF SOPHS

Blue Key Meets With Resistance of Freshmen but is Generally Successful in Battle

Speedy and severe punishment awaits any freshmen who venture to break the freshman regulations in the announcement made by the Blue Key Society as it ends the second week of a definite campaign to subdue the too-arrogant frosh.

Although the Blue Key was a trifle slow in beginning the campaign, freshmen are now feeling the heavy hand of this society. All freshmen are required to buy and wear their little green caps; one poor freshe who failed to observe this rule was caught by the Blue Key and had his head massaged with molasses and sawdust. Several scraps between freshmen and sophomores have occurred at the front door of Corcoran Hall.

On Wednesday a group of freshman football men made an organized attack upon this forbidden entrance and won their way past the sophomores who defended it. On Thursday the freshmen made a second attack, but this time failed to pass the sophomores.

Plans Kept Secret

Friday saw an attempt on the part of the frosh to defy the sophomore ruling against the use of the south side of G Street, known as sorority row. A concentrated rush of the sophs cleaned the freshmen off.

It is reported that the freshmen have already organized a vigilance committee for their own protection, and that efforts are being made toward a closer organization of the freshmen class.

Blue Key officials hint that an active campaign against the frosh has been mapped out; they decline, however, to make known any of their plans. Even committees and names of committee members are being kept secret. This is done in order to prevent possible hard feelings on the part of freshmen toward individual members who are taking a prominent part in the campaign. Meetings of the society are being held every few days.

The Blue Key Society is this year financing the sale of freshmen caps. Curran de Bruler, chairman of the hat committee, is managing the hat campaign.

wards that no one can be singled out for special comment.

The defensive tactics of the G. W. backfield resulted in the failure of numerous passes tried by the Bisons. These heaves were long and well placed, but Crum's secondary usually had them covered.

"Surprised," Says Moran.

"Charlie" Moran, Bucknell mentor, said that he was "greatly surprised at the fight shown by the visitors." It was that "do or die" spirit which carried several of the men through the game. Injured, they preferred to stay in the game and fight it out. Guy Hottel played the entire game with a broken nose.

The appearance of Capt. Henry Sapp, who went into the game in the last quarter seemed to put new life and spirit into the George Washington outfit, for it was then that the Hatchetmen made their most serious threat.

Just before the game the spectators stood with heads bared while Bucknell musicians sounded taps as a tribute to Christy Mathewson, who died about a year ago. The "Big Six," who was a Bucknell graduate, is buried in a little cemetery near the stadium.

WOMEN SHOTS TO START PRACTICE

Matches Already Slated With Drexel and University of Maryland

FIVE OF OLD TEAM BACK

Meeting Will Be Called Thursday For Squad Aspirants of Coming Season

The rifle season opens this week. On Thursday, October 14, there will be a meeting for all women interested in the sport in Corcoran Hall 1, at 12:50. Those girls who were out for rifle last year, as well as the girls who would like to shoot this season, are urged to come to the first meeting. Walter Stokes, coach of both the men's and women's teams for the past several years, will talk to the girls about plans for the winter.

Intercollegiate matches are to begin in December, two being shot before Christmas. A full schedule is being completed. The team will go to Philadelphia about the middle of February to shoot a shoulder-to-shoulder match with Drexel Institute.

Triangular Match in March

In March the Drexel and University of Maryland teams will come to Washington for the annual triangular match. Five members of last year's team are back this fall—Katherine Shoemaker, Ermytrude Valden, Mae Huntzberger, Helen Taylor, and Patty Ann Jamison. Vacancies in the squad must be filled either by girls who showed promise last year and continue to prove their ability this season, or by new girls among whom Stokes expects to find excellent material.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION AIDS WILL BE CHOSEN

Five or six student assistants will be used to aid the Director of Physical Education in conducting the freshman physical training classes, according to a statement made by Coach Crum today.

These student assistants will be chosen from a group of twelve men who are either members of the football or basketball squads, or who have otherwise had experience in work of this kind. Besides keeping the records, these men chosen will assist in the actual work of directing the classes.

Announcement of these assistants will be made as soon as definite freshmen classes have been formed, which will be this week.

G. W. Harriers to Race Indians in First Meet

Prospects For Good Team Are Bright; Two Veterans Report at Initial Meeting

The Buff and Blue harriers will meet the cross-country team of William and Mary College over the course at Williamsburg, Virginia, October 23, according to an announcement made at the initial meeting of the squad, held in Corcoran Hall last Friday evening.

The prospects for the team are very good according to the showing made at the meeting. The number of men out is small, but a number of them are experienced harriers and should be able to provide the necessary points for a win over the Indians.

Captain "Domy" Domigan and Hurd Willett of last year's team, are back. Patruska, captain of the Maryland University cross-country team last year, is now attending George Washington and is out for the team. Fugitt and Brown are also counted on to render help. Several other men are expected to sign up, and all who are interested have been asked to get in touch with Milton Dennis, manager, at 1707 Massachusetts Avenue, or over Franklin 7663.

TEACHERS WILL ELECT

There will be a meeting of the Junior and Senior Classes of Teachers' College, Tuesday, October 19, at 4:45 o'clock, for the purpose of electing officers. The Juniors will meet in Room 21, Building 4, and the Seniors in Room 23, Building 4.

CONSOLIDATED GAS CO. PICKS G. W. ENGINEERS

New York Concern to Train College Men for Executives and Salesmen

George Washington University alumni will share in the plan of the Consolidated Gas Co. of New York for the training of college and university engineering graduates to become gas service men and salesmen. Twelve graduates already have been selected from six institutions, including besides George Washington University, Stevens Institute of Technology, Lehigh University, Sheffield Scientific School of Yale, California Institute of Technology and the University of Virginia.

These men will undergo comprehensive courses in gas manufacture and laboratory work. Half of the group will be given practical training in all phases of gas plant operation, while the other half will be trained in the utilization testing laboratory which the company maintains.

DEBATE TRYOUTS TO BE HELD NEXT WEDNESDAY

Tryouts for the Men's Debating Squad will be held Wednesday, October 20, at 8 p. m., in Room 1, of Stockton Hall. The subject will be: "Resolved, That this House favors adherence of the United States to the Permanent Court of International Justice." The fact that five men have already been chosen to represent George Washington University in the Cambridge debate leaves only a few places vacant on the squad.

REGISTRATION CLOSED; OVER 4550 ENROLLED

Unofficial Check Shows Number to Be Slightly Under That of Last Year

Registration closed on Saturday, October 9th, with the last unofficial count showing a total of over 4,550 numbered in all departments of the University. Of these approximately 3,800 are in the Department of Arts and Sciences, 300 are in Medical School, and an increase of about 100 in Law School has been shown over last week's total bringing their registrations to 653.

The half-and-half basis of new and old students of last week's count has been somewhat changed, due to the fact that practically all of the recent registrations are for old entrants.

More Men Registered

This brings the ratio to one-third new and two-thirds old. Part-time students are found to be twice as many as those numbered in the morning. Statistics show also an almost equal registration for men and women, there being a total of 1,827 of the former and 1,790 of the latter now attending the University.

By colleges the counts show: Columbian 2,433, Engineering 465, Teachers 462, Graduate 257.

BLUE RIDGE NEXT ON HATCHET LIST

Team From New Windsor to Invade Washington Saturday For Game

VISITORS REPORTED GOOD

Comparison of Scores Shows That Hatchettes Should Win by Good Margin

Coach "Maud" Crum's line-smashing Hatchettes expect to meet a determined combination next Saturday when they encounter the Maroon and White eleven from Blue Ridge College at the Central Stadium at 2.15 p. m.

Coach Wolfgang, of the visitors, will present a much stronger team this year than that seen by the fans here last season. Only three of last year's veterans, Slaughter, halfback, Michaels, husky fullback, and Heberlig, wingman, are back around whom the present team is built. Slaughter, who succeeds West at quarter, is scintillating at that position and may prove to be one of the Axemen's chief worries, as he is a triple-threat man. Engle, an end, and Hughes, a back-field man, will also deserve watching.

To Use Air

We may gain a ling on the comparative strength of the contestants by their showing against the powerful Bucknell aggregation. The boys from New Windsor suffered a terrific drubbing at the hands of the Lewisburg warriors, 53-0, while the Buff and Blue defense literally stopped Bucknell though they were beaten 13-0.

It is expected that both teams will resort to the aerial game with occasional sweeping end runs. Coaches Crum and Davis are particularly optimistic, as they point to the good performances of Stehman, Coleman, Allhouse, Hottel and their mates in the Bucknell tilt.

CIVIL ENGINEERS PLAN SMOKER

The George Washington University student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers will hold its annual smoker on Friday, October 15, at 8:15 p. m., in the men's lounge in the basement of the Law School.

Snake Dance Winds Way Down Avenue

More Than 2,000 Students in Line For Demonstration After Roll Call Assembly

Winding down G Street and into Pennsylvania Avenue in a solid stream of swirling humanity, the snake dance that followed the Fourth Annual Roll Call held on the back campus Monday evening was the most enthusiastic that ever writhed its way down the Avenue of Presidents. More than two thousand singing and yelling students, accompanied by over a hundred crowded automobiles, were in line.

Lead by Kenneth Smoot, carrying the banner of George Washington University, flanked on either side by a body-guard of members of the Blue Key, the Sophomore vigilance society, the stream of student humanity wound in and out between street cars and autos, making them, for one time at least, obey the will of the pedestrian. The first girl in line leaving the University was Barbara Miller, who was only a few places in line behind the leaders.

Saved From Cooler.

One unfortunate fellow got canned for misplacing a semaphore signal, but a collection saved him a night in the cooler. Others got away with swiping lanterns and stalling autos. Several scraped fenders was the total tangible damage to the line of automobiles, but their batteries are complaining of a weakness due to the constant blowing of the horns.

Freshmen caps added a touch of color, the well known green, to the sea of humanity, while breathless co-eds joined wholeheartedly in singing "Hall to the Buff and Blue" and "Hall, Hall, the Gang's All Here."

VOICE TRYOUTS HELD AT GLEE CLUB MEET

Big Possibilities in New Men Says Director Harmon After Rehearsal Thursday

The George Washington University Glee Club held its first meeting of the year Thursday evening in Corcoran Hall. Plans for the coming year were discussed and voices of new applicants were tried out.

Dean J. R. Lapham, faculty advisor to the club, gave a short address. He commented on the return of so many of the old members, of whom 24 were present, and expressed hope for another successful year.

According to Director Harmon, of the club, several of the new applicants who were tried out Thursday, possess voices of marked value. With these new members, and the nucleus of last year's club, the outlook for this year is bright, in Director Harmon's opinion.

It was announced at the meeting that students wishing to join the club should report at the rehearsals on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7 o'clock, in Corcoran Hall. Application should be made as soon as possible, it was urged, because the time for application will be limited.

ROLL CALL UNITES UNIVERSITY MONDAY

quality of determination which was evident in that game. I appeal to the freshmen to go out for football. Next year we will have the one-year rule and will need new blood for the team.

"For the future, I propose," he concluded, "the completion of our building plan. Before this year is over we hope to erect the unit adjoining Corcoran Hall. I cherish a secret that in the near future we may receive as a present from the people of this country a $1,000,000 contribution. This is material gain, the students themselves must make the school."

Dougherty Gets Ovation.

A big ovation, consisting of yells and tooting of horns, was given Commissioner Dougherty when he rose to speak.

"This meeting," he said, "takes me back to early days of George Washington, to Columbian College, to Columbian University, and later to George Washington University. The City of Washington is coming to be more and more an educational center." He cited such institutions as Georgetown University, Catholic University, Howard University, and Gallaudet College. He urged students to visit the museums and great buildings of Washington.

"Only success can be gained by honest work. A fitting inscription is written over the door of a Massachusetts College. It reads, 'Work is one of our greatest blessings. Everyone should have an occupation.' It will be stepping stones out of stumbling blocks."

George and Martha There.

The presence of "George and Martha" lent a gay colonial spirit to the atmosphere. Vincent Stubbs, with his straightforward countenance was the image of General George himself, while Peggy Maise made a quaint and charming Martha.

At the close of the Roll Call the entire crowd congregated on G Street where they formed a mammoth snake which wended its way down the Avenue revelling in noise and pranks.

Members of the Roll Call Committee included G. Rollo Carter, Betty Armentrout, Elsie Talbert, Henry Lansdon, Henry James and Edward J. Grass.

MENTAL EXAMS GIVEN FRESHMEN

Approximately 1200 New Students Receive Alertness and Social Tests

TESTS NOW WIDELY USED

Those Making High Grades in Social Test More Apt to be Successful

Covering a period of two hours, the Freshman intelligence test given in Corcoran Hall and the gymnasium, October 6 and 7, under the direction of Dr. Moss, professor of psychology, measured the mental alertness and social intelligence of approximately 1200 University students.

The test for mental alertness, which is designed to measure the student's ability in handling ideas and in doing abstract thinking, is similar to those given at Columbia, Princeton, Omaha State and various other universities. The social intelligence test, which was introduced at George Washington last year and is now employed in twenty-two other universities, measures the ability of the student to associate and cope with the people and problems of everyday life.

The results of the test will be used in assisting the individual student to select and plan his vocational career. A corps of assistants had begun to tabulate the results early Thursday afternoon and the work will be completed as rapidly as possible. Dr. Moss estimates that it requires from fifteen to twenty minutes to check each set of tests.

Women Higher Socially

Last year the women averaged higher in social intelligence than the men, although the three highest scores were made by men. In arithmetical reasoning and general information the men scored higher, the difference in the average, however, not being very marked.

Those who prepared the social intelligence test were Garnet Jex, who made the pictures illustrating the various emotions, Katherine Omwake, and Thelma Hunt, who does similar work in the research department of the United States Civil Service. The mental alertness test was devised by Dr. Moss, Katherine Omwake, John Petrie, and William Loman.

Persons making high grades in social intelligence are more apt to be successful in later life than those who surpass them in abstract thinking, according to Dr. Moss. For this reason these tests are now being used also by industrial concerns and by some state and civil service commissions in selecting employees for positions where ability to get along with others is important.

SISTER PARTY IS HELD IN GYM MONDAY NIGHT

Two Hundred and Fifty Girls Turn Out For Entertainment Given By Y. W. C. A.

At the Y. W. C. A. party held in the Gymnasium immediately following the disbanding of the Roll Call snake dance Monday night over 250 "big and little sisters" were present, according to Elsie Talbert, chairman of the "Big Sister" Committee and president of the local Y. W. C. A.

Supper was served by a committee to as many of the old and new girls as could be crowded into the Gymnasium. Supplies ran low toward the end and reinforcements had to be brought in to meet the demand of the fair snake dancers.

Play Games.

After the Gym was cleared games were instituted by Louise Omwake, chairman of the Entertainment Committee. The crowd was split into five contending camps that competed with cheers for the prize that was offered. Clever stunts were pulled in the various groups and a number of contests were held. Trick races were also included in the program of stunts.

The "Big and Little Sister" Committee is one of the largest functioning parts of the local Y. "County Fair" will be staged by the same organization whereby the sororities will aid with the maintenance of a series of booths to raise money for the aid of the University.

FORTY OUT FOR GIRLS' G. W. CLUB TENNIS CUP

Forty contenders for the G. W. Women's Tennis trophy have registered for the fall singles tournament, the opening games of which are being played this week.

Changed plans involving a week's delay, bring the close of the first round of matches to Friday, October 5th. The schedule of the tournament is posted in the Gym. The entrants are expected to consult it to find at what time their own matches are to be played.

CRUM GETS TELEGRAMS BEFORE BUCKNELL TILT

Coach Crum was particularly cheered by the telegrams he received from the members and supporters of the University before the Bucknell game at Lewisburg, Pennsylvania, last Saturday.

Before going into the game he took his men into a secret conference and they came out of it with tears in their eyes.

Williamson to Head Columbian Debaters

Society to Follow Custom of Meeting Every Friday Evening During School Year

William F. Williamson was unanimously elected President of the Columbian Debating Society at its annual meeting held last Friday evening. The other officers were: William Simpson, Vice President; Raymond Carlton, Secretary; Frank Smith, Treasurer; Edwin S. Bettelheim, Jr., Correspondent; Wroe Alderson, Delegate to the Debate Council; and Elsie Wright, Critic.

The society appears to have started off the season with the usual "pep." Those elected to membership include: Walter Ferguson, Ray E. Harris, Otto L. Rogers, John T. Trimble, Guy Anderson, Frank Whitehouse, Paul H. Keough, George E. Weigle, Charles Laughlin, and Earle C. Crouter.

Columbian Debating Society will follow its usual custom of meeting every Friday during the school year in Room 15, Corcoran Hall, at 8 p. m. There will be a set debate each evening, followed by open discussion. Next Friday evening will be in the form of an Open Forum, on a subject which will not be announced until that evening.

Assembly on Monday was devoted to talks by George Washington students who traveled in Europe this summer. Jeanne Gravatte discussed Italy, Naples and Maderia, while Caroline West told of her experiences in England and at Oxford.

These talks were supplemented by piano solos by Sylvia Altman, thirteen-year-old graduate of Washington College of Music and Central High School and a George Washington student. Her selections were from Liszt and Chopin.

It's a hit!
You can bat out
lots of good stuff with a Remington Portable Typewriter

It is surprising how the Remington Portable helps with college work. Long reports, theses, and transcriptions of lectures simply roll out of this machine. You don't have to be an experienced operator to speed up your writing to an unbelievable degree.

Your theses and reports look better, too, and quite naturally create a more favorable impression on the professors when they are written on the Remington Portable.

Weights only 8½ pounds, net, and is the handiest, fastest, simplest to operate, and most dependable of all portables. Smallest, lightest and most compact standard keyboard portable.

$10 down and $5 monthly
